Randall Reilly Adds AED to Offices

Randall-Reilly has partnered with Cardiac Solutions, a Birmingham-based company that provides automatic external defibrillators and training to businesses, local governments, schools, and individuals across North America, to add AEDs to their offices. AEDs are an easy to use medical device for non-medical personnel to help someone experiencing a sudden cardiac arrest. Each year in the United States, there are over 10,000 sudden cardiac arrest events in the workplace.

“We are thrilled to partner with Cardiac Solutions to provide life-saving AEDs in our offices. This is another step in our commitment to employee safety. We are very appreciative of Cardiac Solutions' expertise and assistance to help us bring this goal to reality.” said Evan Malone of Randall-Reilly.

Jon Seale, CEO of Cardiac Solutions, remarked, “Cardiac Solutions is pleased to provide Randall-Reilly with AEDs for their offices. Early access to an AED, coupled with effective CPR, offers the highest chance of a person surviving sudden cardiac arrest. We applauded Randall-Reilly for taking this progressive step for the safety of their teammates.”
